Mr. Morrison’s ability to collaborate and work within a team of geologists spanning various levels of experience promotes an atmosphere of success. Dr. T.F. Morris, President and CEO of the Company states: "The addition of Mr. Morrison to the Board of Directors adds an important dimension of exploration coupled with discovery to the Northern Superior team. In addition, Mr. Morrison's long and successful engagement with the mineral exploration industry provides a broad knowledge of, insight about, and network with the associated exploration and mining financial and corporate world."
