ATRIUM MORTGAGE INVESTMENT CORPORATION
INCREASES 2016 REGULAR DIVIDENDS
AND ANNOUNCES JANUARY 2016 DIVIDEND

TORONTO: January 5, 2016 – Atrium Mortgage Investment Corporation (TSX: AI) has increased its regular monthly dividend policy in 2016 to an annual rate of $0.86 per share, payable at a monthly rate of 7.1667 cents per share. As previously announced, this represents an increase from the 2015 annual rate of $0.84 per share, as previously announced. Each dividend is payable after it is declared by Atrium’s board of directors.

“We have increased our regular monthly dividend every year since listing our shares on the TSX in 2012,” said Mr. Robert Goodall, CEO of Atrium. He continued, “Atrium will also pay a special dividend to shareholders of record at December 31, 2015 to pay out the difference between what we earned during 2015 and dividends previously distributed. For the nine months ended September 30, 2015, we have earned $0.71 per share, and paid $0.63 in regular monthly dividends to our shareholders. The amount of the special dividend (covering all of 2015) will be announced on February 9, 2016.”

Atrium’s board of directors has declared a dividend for the month of January 2016 of $0.071667 per common share, to be paid February 12, 2016 to shareholders of record January 29, 2016.

Shareholders are reminded that Atrium offers a dividend reinvestment plan (DRIP) that allows them to automatically reinvest their dividends in new shares of Atrium at a 2% discount from market price and with no commissions. This provides shareholders with an easy way to realize the benefits of compound growth of their investment in Atrium. Shareholders can enroll in the DRIP program by contacting their investment advisor.

About Atrium

Canada’s Premier Non-Bank Lender™

Atrium is a non-bank provider of residential and commercial mortgages that lends in major urban centres in Canada where the stability and liquidity of real estate are high. Atrium’s objectives are to provide its shareholders with stable and secure dividends and preserve shareholders’ equity by lending within conservative risk parameters.

Atrium is a Mortgage Investment Corporation (MIC) as defined in the Canada Income Tax Act, so is not taxed on income provided that its taxable income is paid to its shareholders in the form of dividends within 90 days after December 31 each year. Such dividends are generally treated by shareholders as interest income, so that each shareholder is in the same position as if the mortgage investments made by the company had been made directly by the shareholder.
